Catholic (downtown) – Steubenville Twp. (re-interred to Market St. Catholic Cemetery) First Catholic Cemetery, located “around” the first church, St. Pius in downtown Steubenville. Many churches downtown had cemeteries prior to the purchasing of Steubenville Union Cemetery in 1854. Anyone living and dying in or near Steubenville were probably buried in one of these old church cemeteries.

Catholic (Market St.) – Steubenville Twp. (re-interred to Mt. Calvary Catholic Cemetery) at the top of Market Street extension, on the right where a large hill, currently bare laid the remains of those re-interred from the old original downtown Catholic Church graveyard. County Infirmary/Infirmary (County Hospital) – Cross Creek Twp. ( The County Infirmary is located where the current Jefferson County Community College now stands (March of 2008). Many remember, prior to the college purchasing the land to build, there was a large cemetery that stood behind the infirmary, in the location of the present tennis court and a recent addition, where a large water tower now stands beside the tennis court. We've had eye witness, first hand stories, told to us about how they remember mowing grass at the county infirmary during the summer. We have not located any records referencing any re-interments from this cemetery to another location. They could be in a mass grave at the Steubenville Union Cemetery. If you have a will or any document that shows your ancestor(s) living and/or dying at the "County Infirmary," they were probably buried there and you will not locate a tombstones or any proof of burial, to date.

Ekey M. E. Private/On top of Gould's RR Tunnel – Cross Creek Twp. (cemetery area located near a privately owned land fill and heavily stripped mined area. Nothing left of the church/cemetery but a few tombstones thrown in a small wooded area in the middle of four-wheeler roads and forgotten strip mined hills, deplorable condition.)

Everson Private (Family) – Wells Twp.

Findley/Jewett Private (Family) – Island Creek Twp.

First White Man Graveyard – Steubenville Twp. (the earliest maps of Steubenville site this location down near the Ohio River Bank. We have no way of knowing what happened to this earliest pioneer cemetery, except to suggest that it was moved to the Grant School location a few blocks away. To think of how many of our earliest ancestors that lived and died in Steubenville may have been buried at this location.)

Fort Steuben Burial Estates – Cross Creek Twp. (newer cemetery, established in the 1940's, records kept on location.)

Francis Private (Family) – Smithfield Twp.

Frye Private – Wells Twp.

Grapevine – Wells Twp. (not located to date, probably gone or could be confused with another Wells Twp. cemetery.)

Grant School Graveyard – Steubenville Twp. (2 acres in size. County deeds show this cemetery to begin interments about 1818, with several local churches, including the Methodist and Presbyterian purchasing lots for family members, apparent from Jefferson County Courthouse records. The deed shows this cemetery to be 2 acres in size, beginning where the first (old) Grant School was built in about 1874. Prior to 1854, when Steubenville Union Cemetery began interments, we find many cemetery deeds referencing burials purchased for lots at this cemetery. When the old (first) Grant School was being built, human remains and tombstones were found in the ground. This would suggest that some re-interments (which show up, but very few) occurred at the Steubenville Union Cemetery. This land was originally owned by Bezeleel Wells, Steubenville's founding father. In the deed it references B. Wells donating the 2 acres for a city cemetery. When the second Grant School was built, after the turn of the 20th century, more human remains were found in the sand, such as; skeleton remains, red hair, Native American Artifacts, crosses, and a few old ornate tombstones, but buried under the old school, not once but twice. This was recorded in the Weekly Herald Newspaper at that time. Now the school lot sits empty. Both Grant School buildings now gone! You can only imagine how many were not re-interred or were placed in a mass grave at Steubenville Union Cemetery.)

Holy Resurrection Serbian Eastern (Greek) Orthodox – Cross Creek Twp.

Grimm/Grims Ridge (Family) – Knox Twp.

Harris Private (Family) – Warren Twp.

Hall, Reuben (Family) – Warren Twp. (Revolutionary War Veteran, Reuben Hall believed to be buried at this location.... This family cemetery has not been located. It is believed to be gone due to mining and/or logging)

Hall, Benj Farm (Family) – Warren Twp. (one tombstone was located in the woods, near Hall property, all else gone, local logging project, neighboring his brother who was Reuben Hall, Patriot from the Revolutionary War.)

Hammondsville – Saline Twp.

Harmony/George's Run/Point View/Connel (original graveyard) – Steubenville Twp.

Hart Private (Family) – Cross Creek Twp.

Highland – Mt. Pleasant Twp.

Hilderbrand Private/Hildebron/Hildenbrand (Family) – Ross Twp. (graveyard gone, found two tombstones in the woods, at the rear of the original Hilderbrand Ridge property. Local logging project could be the cause.)

Hill Private (Family) – Steubenville Twp.

Hodgens/Indian/ Mound/Tiltonsville – Warren Twp. (many tombstones, some of the oldest, gone. Mr. Robert Richardson, local historian of Warren Township, worked very hard in the 1970's to see that this cemetery was recognized by the State and Federal government as a Prehistoric Mound. Tests were conducted and proof was provided, from the mound and some of the remains and artifacts found inside of the mound that showed proof that there was inhabitants living in the area as well as proof of a prehistoric burial ground at this location. When the early pioneers began to settle the river banks, they continued to use the Mound as a pioneer cemetery, burying some of the earliest pioneers to settle that area and included the Tilton and Hodgen families.)

Holmes M.E. – Smithfield Twp. (earliest burials occurred down over the hill from the current location. Here the first church and graveyard were laid out. Later, due to the “rising of the creek, which swept away early graves” (as recorded in, Pathfinders) the church members moved the graveyard and the church to higher ground, where all that appears now is the remains of those buried there.)

Holt/Bethel /First Lutheran (German) – Ross Twp.

Holy Resurrection – Saline Twp.

Hook Private (Family) – Cross Creek Twp.

Hopewell M. E. – Warren Twp. (pioneer section is about 1 acre in size. The pioneer section of this cemetery is in very poor condition. For many years, all the attention it receives is an occasional mowing. Many of the oldest tombstones are missing or gone or in very poor condition. The old Hopewell Church sits in the right corner in front of the pioneer cemetery, where is it slowly falling to pieces, we are very sad to report.)

Hupp Private (Family) – Warren Twp.

Hyndman/Hindman Private (Family) – Wells Twp.

Jones Private – Warren Twp.

Irondale/Catholic-Protestant Sections – Saline Twp. (the size of the cemetery, from a WPA map shows approximately 5 acres. The map displays a large Catholic section and adjacent to it, a large Protestant section. There are but a couple tombstones from the entire acreage that have been located. No one to date knows anything about how a cemetery this size went from 5 acres to just a few tombstones laying on the ground. This township, and area, near where the cemetery once stood, has been heavily logged and mined area over the years. We are working with local churches and government to locate records and/or maps of the churches or cemeteries.)

New Somerset Christian – Knox Twp.

New Somerset Methodist – Knox Twp.

Oak Grove Presbyterian /Oak Grove Associated Reform/Old Union House – Mt. Pleasant Twp. (this cemetery is in a more remote area on a township road and has been totally neglected and forgotten over the years. The graveyard suffered so much neglect and vandalism, so much so that in the 1960's many descendants of more prominent known ancestors (such as McCune's etc.) moved their ancestor's tombstones (and remains?) to the Seceder Cemetery in Mt. Pleasant, just a few short miles away. Those interments were not recorded (to our knowledge, no records have been found to date) showing these re-interments, and therefore many who search for their early pioneers believe they were originally buried at the Seceder Cemetery, but many were re-interred from Oak Grove. Many early tombstones still remain at Oak Grove.)

Oakland/Mingo Junction – Steubenville Twp.

Oliver Methodist/Lloyds – Wells Twp. (a few years ago the cemetery was cleaned of large brush, trees and weeds by a local Boy Scout troop. Although this cemetery appears to get mowed a couple times a year, it is in deplorable condition, with many broken tombstones lying on the ground everywhere, becoming part of the ground from which they came, very sad. Many early tombstones are missing or totally illegible. )

Osage/Mt. Hope/Good Hope (German) Lutheran/Bowling Green/Town Fork – Knox Twp.

Pine Grove Methodist – Ross Twp. (excellent condition cared for by the church)

Piney Fork Presbyterian/Associate Reform/U.P. – Smithfield Twp. (this was one of the worst cemeteries in the entire county when we stepped foot in it for the first time. It was so overgrown that we couldn't even stand upright and we could feel tombstones under our feet with every step. A major cleanup has occurred and an active restoration project is still ongoing to save this cemetery. It is located in a remote area, on a hillside and will need a lot of care.)

Pine Run Baptist – Wayne Twp. (Pine Run Church was established abt. 1823/24. When it closed, members moved their memberships to Mt. Moriah abt. 1861. Some burials continued at Pine Run after this date, but most members attended Mt. Moriah and the majority of burials began at this location from 1861 on.)

Steubenville Union – Steubenville Twp. (largest cemetery in Jefferson County. The cemetery is listed on the National Register. It is a beautiful cemetery to visit, especially in the spring and fall. It has many problems as well. Many early burials and re-interments from former pioneer cemeteries have gone unrecorded or some were placed in mass burial locations. There is also a large area of what is known as the paupers section with many unrecorded, unknown or too poor to purchase headstones.)
