This space was designated as "New Pottersfield" by Peter Quaigg, Sexton when he made 2 interments on the south side of a dirt road, south of the area designated as 'Pottersfield'. The Oil Company leasing drilling rights on cemetery property had cut a temporary road through the woods to a well they were working on. The interments were put there to inconvenience the Oil Co., This was told to F.F. Pfister by Dallas W. Moore, an Oil Co., employee and confirmed by Edgar Miller, a cemetery employee and nephew of Peter Quaigg.

On. Dec. 15, 1952, Pfister received a note from Peter Quaigg asking permission to remove the two interments but did not state the new location for burial. Action on request deferred pending future use of the area. (See, RATHMAN, Max, Sept. 24, 1942)

May 25, 1963: This area re-designated as "HOLY CROSS SECTION" instead of Pottersfield, to be replated and grave numbers changed with NO CHANGE in location of the burials. The Grave FALGETONIO, is in the space re-designated as Holy Cross, Row 12, Grave 11.

Dec. 3, 1956: Shannon Funeral Home records indicate that burial was made on the Fishinger lot in Holy Name Section, which confirms entry in original interment book. However, Gr. 10 previously occupied; unless double interment was made, this is in error. Exact location of grave not known. a study of the lot, and probing of ground indicates that interment was probably made in Gr. No. 6, instead of No. 10 as marked in original book. (FFP)
