REMARKS: Died at Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville. Owner of watch repair Shop, S. 5th St., Survived by Mr. & Mrs. D. A. Young, Northeast P enna, distant relatives.

This space was designated as "New Pottersfield" by Peter M. Quaigg Sexton, when he made 2 interments on the south side of a dirt road south of the area designated as Pottersfield. The Oil Company leasing drilling rights on cemetery property had cut a temporary road through the woods to a well they were working on. The interments were put there to inconvenience the Oil Company. This was told to F.F.Pfister by Dallas W. Moore, an Oil Co., employee and confirmed by Edgar Miller, a cemetery employee and nephew of Peter Quaigg.

On Dec. 15, 1952, Pfister received a note from Peter Quaigg asking permission to remove the two interments but did not state the new location for burial. Action on request deferred pending future use of the area. (See, FALGETONIO, Antonio, Oct. 7, 1942)

May 25, 1963: This area re-designated as "HOLY CROSS SECTION" instead of Pottersfield, to be re-plated and grave numbers changed with NO CHANGE in location of the burials. The grave of Max Rathman is partially in the space designated as Grave No. 9, but is partially in Row 11 and the ~~bottom~~ of grave in Row 12.
